

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A known lithographic method is used to remove a thin mask layer, particularly a  $\text{Si}_3\text{N}_4$  liner, on one side of a depression in a semiconductor configuration having a depression. An ion
5 beam is directed obliquely onto the depression at an angle, which removes the thin mask layer in irradiated regions.

REL/nt